RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Summer 2022 – Present

Family Relationships Lab

Indiana University Bloomington

Title: Lab Coordinator

Principal Investigator: Amy Holtzworth-Munroe, Ph.D.

Description: As the lab coordinator, I manage a team of undergraduate research assistants. I train these research assistants for various tasks including data coding and the creation of data tables. I am also responsible for assigning the research assistants weekly tasks as well as monitoring their progress on assigned tasks. Furthermore, I am responsible for coordinating the communication between the graduate students, the principal investigator, and other people associated with the lab.

Summer 2021 – Present

Developmental Psychopathology Lab

Indiana University Bloomington

Title: Undergraduate Research Assistant

Principal Investigator: Brian D’Onofrio, Ph.D.

Description: As an undergraduate research assistant, I attend weekly meetings to discuss ongoing projects in the lab such as grant proposals and in-progress manuscripts. Furthermore, I am responsible for assembling literature reviews and libraries with information related to research on children in the foster care system. Additionally, I assist graduate students on various research projects by compiling citations, conducting literature reviews, and performing qualitative analyses.

CLINICAL EXPERIENCE

February 2021 – June 2021

Bloomington Neurofeedback

Bloomington, Indiana

Title: Clinical Intern

Description: Through this internship, I organized confidential client files, arranged appointments for clients, administered health surveys for clients, attached clients to an electroencephalogram machine, and operated the display program. I helped perform client intakes and assisted in the implementation of measurement-based care.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

June 2020 – February 2021, Starbucks
June 2021 – January 2022 Bloomington, Indiana
Title: Barista
Description: As a barista, I worked alongside a diverse team of coworkers to run our store and maximize our sales while maintaining an environment of customer support and care. During the coronavirus pandemic, I helped implement a new series of guidelines to ensure the safety of my coworkers and our customers.
